HARTWICK SEMINARY.

This Institution, embracing both a Theological and Classical Department, is situated in the delightful valley of the Susquehanna, five miles south of Cooperstown, Otsego county, N. Y. It is of easy access, by a daily line of stages, in connection with the cars, east and west, at Fort Plain. The location is in a remarkably healthy section of the country, and the surrounding community is distinguished for morality and intelligence. There is absolutely nothing in the place calculated to divert the attention of students from their studies, or to tempt them from the path of rectitude.

THEOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

The general order of Theological study is as follows:

FIRST YEAR.

THEOLOGICAL—Mental and Moral Philosophy; Natural Theology; Butler's Analogy; Evidences of Christianity; Inspiration and Canon of Scripture (Horne).

HISTORICAL—Sacred History (Kurtz); Church History.

BIBLICAL—Hebrew Grammar; Genesis; Greek Exegesis; Gospels and Acts; Lectures on Hermeneutics.

SECOND YEAR.

The Second includes all the preceding, together with the higher branches of an English education, such as Higher Arithmetic, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Physiology, Astronomy, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Surveying, Conic Sections, Intellectual and Moral Philosophy, Rhetoric, Logic, Natural Theology, Ancient Geography, &c.

The Third embraces all the foregoing, together with the Modern and Ancient Languages; such as French, German, Latin, Greek and Hebrew.

Both Departments are equally open to all. To Students preparing for the Ministry in the Lutheran Church, the entire course of Instruction is Gratuitous.

TEXT BOOKS.

The following are some of the Text Books used in the Seminary: Mayhew's Bookkeeping; Thompson's Practical Arithmetic; Thompson's Higher Arithmetic; Dr. Miller's and Bullions' English Grammar; Fasquelle's French Grammar; Woodbury's German Grammar; Colton & Fitch's Geography; Town's Analysis; Wells' Philosophy; Burritt's & Smith's Astronomy; Robinson's Algebra; Wells' Chemistry; Legendre's Geometry, by Davies; and Davies' Surveying; Davies' Analytical Geometry; Andrews' and Stoddard's Latin Grammar; Anthon's Course of Latin Classics; Mrs. Lincoln's Botany; Norton's Agriculture; Cutter's Physiology; Paley's Natural Theology; Newman's Rhetoric; Arnold's Greek and Latin Prose Composition; Sanders' Reading and Spelling Books; Wilson's Histories, &c.

DECLAMATION AND COMPOSITION.

Particular attention is paid to correctness and elegance of style in Composition, and to ease and grace of delivery in Declamation. Every Student is required to declaim, and to read an original Essay, at least as often as once in each alternate week.

APPARATUS.

There is in the Institution an excellent Surveyor's Compass and Chain for Practice in Surveying. There are likewise a Terrestrial and Celestial Globe, an Apparatus for Illustrating the Mechanical Powers, a Planetarium, an Air Pump, &c.

LIBRARIES.

The several Libraries in the Seminary contain about 1500 volumes, many of them of permanent interest and value in the departments of History, Travels, Natural History, Philosophy, Belles Lettres, &c.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three Societies, each having a library of its own, connected with the Institution, designed principally for the improvement of their respective members in extemporaneous debate. Of these one is called "The Theological Society of Hartwick Seminary," to membership in which Theological Students only are admitted; another "The Philophronean Society of Hartwick Seminary," whose advantages may be enjoyed by all the Students of a suitable age connected with the Institution, the third recently established is called the Clionian Society

SESSIONS.

There are Three Terms in the Academic year, the First of Twelve and the others of Fourteen Weeks each, beginning respectively on the first Monday in October, the second Monday in January, and the fourth Monday in May. It is highly desirable that Students should always enter at the commencement of the term.

NORMAL CLASS.

Hartwick Seminary having been appointed by the Regents of the University of the State of New York to instruct Common School Teachers, a Normal Class is formed and instructed during the winter of each academic year. Those who may wish to become connected with this Class, will be required to certify that they design to devote a reasonable time to teaching, and to such the tuition will be free. Those who may desire to enter the Normal Class, should be present at the beginning of the Normal term.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

Prayers are attended in the Chapel every morning and evening, at which all the Students are required to be present. Every Student when not engaged in recitation, is expected to remain in his room during school hours, and at no time to leave the place except by special permission. All the Students are required to attend divine service in the church on the Sabbath, and to be pure in their language and correct in their deportment. The government of this Institution is designed to be parental and mild, but firm.
